DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 5/27/2005 has been entered.

This is a Notice of Allowance in response to Amendment filed 5/27/2005, and telephone interview with Applicant's Attorney Charles E. Shemwell held on 7/15/2005.

Prior Office Action Claim Status:

Claims 1-61 were pending. Claims 23-38 and 50-61 were withdrawn as a result of Election/Restriction. Claims 1-22 and 39-49 were previously examined.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Charles E. Shemwell on July 15, 2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

Amendment to the Claims:

Previously withdrawn Claims 23-38 and 50-61 are now cancelled.

New Claims 62-76 have been added, as follows:

62. (new) A method of operation within a content addressable memory (CAM) device, the method comprising:
  - accessing data stored at a first address value in a CAM array;
  - comparing the first address value with a second address value to determine if the first address value and the second address value have a predetermined relationship;
  - incrementally adjusting the second address value if the first address value and the second address value have the predetermined relationship; and
  - incrementally adjusting the first address value if the first address value and the second address value do not have the predetermined relationship.
63. (new) The method of claim 62 further comprising resetting the first address value to a start address if the first address value and the second address value have the predetermined relationship.
64. (new) The method of claim 63 wherein resetting the first address value to a start address comprises resetting the first address value to a start address that corresponds to a highest priority storage location in the CAM array.
65. (new) The method of claim 63 wherein resetting the first address value to a start address comprises resetting the first address value to a lowest address that corresponds to a storage location within the CAM array.

66. (new) The method of claim 63 wherein resetting the first address value to a start address comprises resetting the first address value to a highest address that corresponds to a storage location within the CAM array.
67. (new) The method of claim 62 wherein incrementally adjusting the first address value comprises increasing the first address value by a predetermined amount.
68. (new) The method of claim 62 wherein incrementally adjusting the first address value comprises decreasing the first address value by a predetermined amount.
69. (new) The method of claim 62 wherein comparing the first address value with the second address value to determine if the first address value and the second address value have a predetermined relationship comprises determining if the first address value and the second address value are equal.
70. (new) The method of claim 62 wherein comparing the first address value with the second address value to determine if the first address value and second address value have a predetermined relationship comprises determining if the first address value is greater than the second address value.
71. (new) The method of claim 62 wherein incrementally adjusting the second address value comprises increasing the second address value by a predetermined amount.

72. (new) The method of claim 62 wherein incrementally adjusting the second address value comprises decreasing the second address value by a predetermined amount.
73. (new) The method of claim 62 further comprising:
receiving a reset signal; and resetting the second address value to an initial value.
74. (new) The method of claim 73 wherein resetting the second address value to an initial value comprises resetting the second address value to an initial value that corresponds to a highest priority storage location in the CAM array.
75. (new) The method of claim 73 wherein resetting the second address value to an initial value comprises resetting the second address value to a lowest address that corresponds to a storage location within the CAM array.
76. (new) The method of claim 73 wherein resetting the second address value to an initial value comprises resetting the second address value to a highest address that corresponds to a storage location within the CAM array.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-22, 39-49 and 62-76 are allowed. Renumbered as Claims 1-48.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Examiner Interviews:

During an interview held on 24 May 2005, Charles E. Shemwell, Attorney for Applicant, indicated that the prior art by Oh et al. (U.S. Patent 6,625,766) fails to disclose a second counter, and furthermore, it would not have been obvious to incorporate a second counter in the Oh's reference. Examiner Kerveros agreed to withdraw the Finality of the Office Action in a follow up continued examination, RCE.

Also, during a follow up interview on July 15, 2005, Mr. Shemwell suggested to rejoin the method claims 23-38 previously withdrawn by substituting with new claims 62-76 including the allowable subject matter of "incrementally adjusting the first address value if the first address value and the second address value do not have the predetermined relationship", as recited in the independent claim 62. The Examiner agreed to implement the claims amendment using an Examiner's Amendment, as indicated above.

Upon further search, the prior arts of record taken alone or in combination fail to teach, anticipate, suggest or render obvious a second counter included in the independent claims.

Independent Claim 1 recites, inter alia, a second counter circuit to store a limit value and to incrementally adjust the limit value in response to the second control signal.

Independent Claim 39 recites, inter alia, means for incrementally adjusting the second address value if the first address value and the second address value have the predetermined relationship.

Independent Claim 44 recites, inter alia, a second counter to store a limit value, a compare circuit coupled to the first and second counters to compare the address with the limit value, and an address decoder coupled to the first counter and the CAM array to select one of the rows of CAM cells corresponding to the address.

Independent Claim 62 recites, inter alia, the method steps of incrementally adjusting the second address value if the first address value and the second address value have the predetermined relationship, and incrementally adjusting the first address value if the first address value and the second address value do not have the predetermined relationship.

Subsequently, claims 1-22, 39-49 and 62-76 are allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
